Southeast Safety Association Receives Gold Web Award for Launch of New Safety Web site

Slidell, Louisiana, May 10, 2005 — The Southeast Safety Association has received an award for opening their new safety Web site, www.se-safety.com. Today The American Association of Webmasters has honored the Southeast Safety Associations new website with their highest ranking of Gold. The exciting news came via e-mail to John Rabb, the owner of the winning website design company, Crescent City Computer Consulting. The announcement noted, "Your site displays: Excellent flash presentation, user friendly navigation, a nice clean design and theme, with quality content and resources."

Dennis Neyland, owner of Southeast Safety Association says that he saw a tremendous Internet void in Safety and Industry informational materials. He has now created one of the foremost Safety Web sites available on the Internet, for which he is very proud to offer.

The Southeast Safety Association provides members of the Louisiana Construction & Industry Self Insurers Fund and its employees with the information and assistance needed to develop comprehensive safety practices in the workplace. The Southeast Safety Association also assists in establishing employer-employee joint safety programs that result in the achievement of safety excellence. The Southeast Safety Association is committed to educating the members of the Louisiana Construction & Industry Self Insurers Fund with the proper safety tools that will ultimately result in reducing the number of workplace injuries and lowering their workers compensation premium.

Crescent City Computer Consulting is a full-service technical consulting firm founded in 1999 by owner and Web site designer, John Rabb. Contact them today at 504-889-6432, or www.cccconsulting.com.

Mr. Neyland was presented with his award at his Slidell office on Thursday, May 5th.
